

THEN & NOW ARMY: FROM KILTS TO CAMS

Proud, but mud-encrusted kilt slicing like razor into backs of legs.

Helmet cam to record all that's good or nasty.

Ballistic goggles to keep out the sun—or unwanted exploding bits.

Creatures that sting or bite in the night—or any other time of day.

Rats as big as cats nibbling at ankles—or any other body part.

Strange, meandering hiss around feet—or sliding into bedroll.

Well-worn and dusty combat pants that can stand with or without you.

FIRST WORLD WAR

TODAY